The gas, grease paint clown face of Halloween revelers may turn into the dread, paper-mache mask of death for 12-year-old Loren Leister, who Monday night was the innocent victim of a pistol shot in an alleged brawl at the height of Halloween celebration in front of a restaurant at 842-A Marietta street. The boy is in Grady hospital, where doctors hold slight hope for his recovery.

Young Leister, son of A. A. Leister, 8 Marietta place, has a bullet wound in the forehead, just above the right eye. At a late hour Monday night he had not regained consciousness since being taken to Grady hospital.

E. F. Keheley, operator of the restaurant in front of which the shooting occurred, A. R. Lane, 395 Eighth street, and Clyde Howell, 906 Means street, are being held at police station on a blanket charge of suspicion in connection with the shooting of the boy.

According to police reports, Young Leister, with young James Metcalf and other boy friends, were out celebrating Halloween Monday night and about 9 o'clock they arrived at the restaurant operated by Keheley.

The police report that an argument was in progress between Ke-

Boston, October 31.—(AP)—A wage cut in one Lowell plant and decision to close another and remove part of its machinery to the south were announced today. The Massachusetts mills put into effect a 10 per cent wage reduction affecting 1,400 employees, including the office staff.

Stockholders of the Appleton company meeting in Boston authorized the directors to extend $750,000 to move a part of the mill machinery from Lowell to Anderson, S. C., and to erect new buildings at Anderson.

The Penner Manufacturing company, operating the Massachusetts cotton mills, gave as a reason for the wage reduction the necessity of cutting operating expenses if the plant is to be maintained in Lowell. In a further effort to obtain lower taxes

New Freight Rate Scale To Aid Atlanta

Last Day of Chest Drive Finds Fund Short By $152,159

Campaign Workers
Spurred on to Greater
Efforts To Reach $500,000 Goal by End of Day.

CONCLUDING RALLY TO BE HELD TONIGHT

Number of Individual
Subscribers Nearly 9,000 Under Last Year.
Chest Records Show.

Necessity for the last supreme effort confronts workers for the Atlanta Community Chest today.

With the public appeal for support of the Chest closing tonight at 6:30 o'clock, there remains to be raised $152,159.72 to obtain the $500,000 set as the minimum sum under which the Community Chest's 35 agencies for social welfare and human reconstruction effectively may serve the city's needs.

A dinner rally of the campaign workers will be held at the Apsley hotel at 6:30 o'clock tonight. It has been designated as the Victory dinner, in the fervent hope of the organization leaders that the final reports will spell victory for the campaign and the attainment of its goal.

$52,651.70 Raised.
Workers at the last luncheon rally Monday afternoon reported raising $52,651.70 since the report last Friday, bringing the total raised to $312,840.28.

These workers heard that the number of individual subscribers is nearly 9,000 short of the number obtained last year. Roy LeCraw, general of the individual subscribers' division, asked that every effort be made to reach as many individuals as possible before the campaign closes tonight.

"See them all," Mr. LeCraw urged. "Proportionately, the gifts this year are larger than those last year, but we are about to fall because we have not obtained the cooperation of nearly as many people. You can't tell me that nearly 9,000 men and women who gave last year can not or will not give to the cause this year."

The workers heard also an inspiring talk by Dr. Thornehill Jacobs, president of Morehouse university, who lauded the campaign workers for their efforts and enthusiasm.

Cooperation Awakened.
"It is not the money you are raising that counts," he said, "but the spirit you are giving and the spirit of cooperation, the response to obligation, that you are awakening. The fact shows the quality of the city, its manhood, its religion. It shows that the strong arm of the city's business and the force of the city's brains are saving that the poor of the city shall not suffer."

For the last day of the campaign today it was announced that boundary lines and classifications would be disregarded, and that in addition to their regularly assigned districts and establishments, the workers might call upon any person anywhere from whom a gift is likely.

L. H. Pound was presented as the team captain with the best record for the day and also as having directed his group of workers to a record for the day.

ICE MEN TO OPEN CONVENTION TODAY

1,000 Manufacturers From All Parts of Country Expected; First Session This Morning.

A warm welcome to members of a cold business will be extended this morning by Atlanta when the tenth annual convention of the National Association of Ice Industries opens at the Biltmore hotel.

Approximately 1,000 ice manufacturers from every state, Canada, Mexico and Hawaii are expected to be in attendance, the association being known as one of the most active and progressive trade organizations in the country.

Previous conventions of the association having been held in a climate more suggestive of the nature of the business, the north, the association will hold its first southern meeting at the local session. Many problems facing the industry are to be threshed out, while plans for the expansion of the ice business will be considered.

The first social festivity of the convention was staged Monday night at 7 o'clock when a "Dutch" supper was given the visitors by "Refugees," the trade publication of the ice men. The supper was held in the private suites arranged by Mrs. John W. Young, editor of the publication.

Immensity of Industry.
With few people even today comprehending the immensity of the ice industry, the association is spending $200,000 this year in educational publicity, telling the housewives of the country the advantages of ice usage. Until the organization of the industry ten years ago, no one knew much about ice, it was just a commodity available in most localities if wanted, but never advertised or sold in the usual sense of merchandising. Today there is not a village of 500 people in America which does not have a regular ice supply.

Delegates to the convention will represent an industry with an investment of almost a billion dollars, and one which produces and sells 60,000,000 tons of ice per year. Within the past ten years the sales have

PRIZE FIGHT FILMS ARE BEING SHOWN AT METROPOLITAN

Management of Movie House Exhibiting Copy of Picture Seized at Howard and Rialto.

Undaunted by the seizure of the Dempsey-Tunney fight films last week at the Howard and Rialto theaters, management of the Metropolitan has secured the pictures and is exhibiting them as a part of their regular program this week.

With the three reels of the Soldiers field championship fight seized last week at the Howard theater on the second day's showing resting comfortably in the steel vault in the office of Louis H. Crawford, United States marshal, a similar copy of the fight films made their appearance Monday at the Metropolitan.

Just what action the government, through Clint W. Hager, district attorney, will take against the three reels being shown at the Metropolitan could not be learned definitely Monday night, but it is believed that the district attorney today will follow up his action of last week and seize the Metropolitan's films.

Advertised by Banner.
The Metropolitan films were being advertised Monday night by an automobile calliope which, paraded the downtown streets with a screaming yellow banner advertising that the films were at the theater and being shown.

Eight fans who missed their opportunity to see the films last week at the Howard by reason of their quick seizure flocked today to the Metropolitan.

At the Metropolitan theater Monday night it was stated that the films were being exhibited on the advice of the theater's counsel to go ahead and show the fight pictures. The Metropolitan is in no way connected with the shipment of the films from the north, as a local man walked into the theater Monday, and, to the surprise of the management, offered them the sum of $10,000 for the films. The offer was accepted, and the films were put on the program, it was stated.

Meanwhile, the Howard theater is making time pending advice from the public theaters general counsel as to what course of action to take in pushing its request for the return of the films seized by the government.

TARIFF REDUCTION MEANS MATERIAL BENEFIT TO SOUTH

Moore Sees New Schedule as Important Development to City's Manufacturers and Shippers.

Atlanta manufacturers and shipping interests generally will reap important benefits out of the new schedule of southern freight rates prescribed Monday in Washington by the interstate commerce commission, according to Harry T. Moore, secretary of the Atlanta Freight bureau.

The general revision of freight rates in the southeast—involving reductions in some cases and increases in others—will be put into effect December 31, 1927. The effect of the blanket schedule, according to Mr. Moore, will be to increase rates generally by a very slight margin so far as this section of the country is concerned.

Atlanta will benefit more materially from the new schedule than any other important shipping center in the south, however, he added.

On Mileage Basis.
"Under the new rule," Mr. Moore explained, "cities will be placed on a strict mileage basis and will benefit in some cases and increase in others according to their geographical location. Atlanta, by reason of its central location in the south, should benefit more than any other important shipping center in the south, and the new schedule will probably be an important thing for our city."

While the majority of changes made in freight rates for this section are reductions, it was pointed out by Mr. Moore, the new schedule entails numerous increases, and on the whole is in the nature of equalization of freight rates in the southeast.

Mr. Moore Monday cited a reduction under the new schedule of 40 1/2 cents per 100 pounds on first-class freight from Chicago to Atlanta as a representative point in the central freight association classification. The other shipping classification is "trunk terminals," which holds from New York to Atlanta, rail and water, and first-class freight under the new schedule will have an increase of 3 cents per 100 pounds on the "trunk terminals."

This case, Mr. Moore pointed out, is known as the southern class rate, and adjustment first began in 1921, when a joint petition was filed by carriers and shippers with the interstate commerce commission asking in the commission to start an investigation of the class rates to and from central freight association and trunk terminals, and to bring between-point rates in southern territory.

First hearing of the case, Mr. Moore said, was held in May, 1922, in Atlanta. Since that time, Mr. Moore said, the commission has issued in July, 1925, since that time, Mr. Moore said, modifications and amendments have been made.

3 Georgians Get Carnegie Medals For Heroic Acts

Effort of Covington Citizen To Save Louise Trotti Is Given Recognition by Body.

Finance Minister, Count Volpi, Is Made Mussolini Scapegoat; Will Be Sent to Washington.

ITALIAN CABINET FACING SHAKEUP

BY JOHN CLAYTON.
(Copyright, 1927, by The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Rome, October 31.—Three ministers and four undersecretaries are slated for the black envelope in the near future in the most serious shake up of the fascist government since the Matteotti case.

Finance Minister Count Volpi, minister of national economy; Belluzzo and Minister of Public Works, Giurati are all scheduled to go, while Sig. Bottai, undersecretary for corporations; General Cavallero, undersecretary for the army; Sig. Balbo, undersecretary for aviation, and Sig. Grandi, undersecretary for foreign affairs, also are on the list for the shelf.

Volpi Made Goat.
The most sensational change is that of Count Volpi, Premier Mussolini's financial policy, which proved a disaster for the nation, has been blamed on Volpi. This, coupled with jealousies and the fact that the count during his tenure in office has risen from fifth to the second richest man in Italy, has created many enemies for the man who has been the most successful finance minister during the fascist regime.

Count Volpi, who opposed the revaluation policy and only carried it out under Premier Mussolini's orders, will be the scapegoat for the flat failure of the new financial policy. He probably will be sent to Washington as ambassador.

Premier Mussolini, assisted by a committee of bankers, will probably take over the finance ministry, the duty thus assuming charge of his eighth portfolio.

In the near future, however, it is understood that he will relieve himself by turning over the ministry of the interior to Sig. Turatti, the present head of the party.

Sig. Balbo, who has been persona non grata with the royal family for

HEAVILY LOADED CAR HITS TREE ON PAGES FERRY

Girl, 4, Badly Burned When Paper Fancy Costume Catches Fire; Sister Saves Life.

CRASH VICTIMS' INJURIES SLIGHT

R. H. Childress, Driver of Car Suffers Gash on Forehead; Others Bruised and Cut.

Tragedy hovered close over youthful costumed Halloween celebrants when a roadster driven by R. H. Childress, of 97 Acoma avenue, in which eight young people were riding, struck a tree at the intersection of Pace's Ferry road and Shadowlawn avenue Monday night, hurling them to the ground and inflicting painful injuries.

Mary Tavachnick, 4, of 817 Fair street, also escaped death narrowly when the paper Halloween costume she was wearing caught fire from matches with which she was playing. The presence of mind of her older sister, Leah, who promptly extinguished the flames, probably saved her life.

Mary's sister, fearing that her mother would discover the manner in which the fire occurred, attempted to conceal her sister's burns, but it became necessary to summon a physician to treat the child, whose hair had been burned and who was suffering from painful burns about the body.

In the car with Childress, in the Pace's Ferry crash, were his brother, W. M. Childress, and a sister, all of the Acoma avenue address; Miss Wilhelmine and Miss Mildred Berry, of 1247 Piedmont road; Miss Lois Coleman, of 2908 Piedmont road, and Miss Ida Mae Brown, of 263 Little street, N. E., and Russell Cassidy, of Matheson avenue.

Cassidy, who was the most seriously hurt, was taken to Georgia Baptist hospital, where he was examined for a possible fractured hip and internal injuries. All members of the party were given emergency treatment at Georgia Baptist except members of the Childress family who were taken to Grady hospital, where R. H. Childress was found to have a deep laceration on his forehead. Injuries of the others were said to be slight.

Members of the group, who ranged between 14 and 16 years in age, said that they had donned the traditional fancy costumes and had sallied forth to "ride around" and "contribute their quota to the general fund of noise and Halloween festivities.

They were riding east on Pace's Ferry road, witnesses said, when they reached the intersection of Shadow-

Limitation of Tax Cut To $225,000,000 Is Urged By Treasury Secretary

Would Repeal Federal Levy on Inheritances and Corporations as House Hearings Open.

Washington, October 31.—(AP)—Another overhauling of the nation's tax law was begun today, the House administration leading off with a proposal to repeal down the annual tax burden by $225,000,000.

Under the administration plan most of this reduction would be accomplished by lowering the corporation tax 1 1/2 per cent, although the program also includes among other things, repeal of the estate or inheritance tax and revision of some of the brackets of the income surtax. It provides for no changes in the income tax rates of the great bulk of taxpayers.

The program was presented by Secretary Mellon at the first session of a ten-day hearing before the House ways and means committee, which had been called back to Washington five weeks in advance of the convening of Congress so that some sort of bill might be ready for the house itself early in December. Both in committee and in the House, the program has been met with a mixture of approval and disapproval.

Mellon's request for such a limitation was based on a treasury estimate that the surplus of 1929 would amount to only $274,000,000, far under that which has been available in previous years. He made five specific suggestions as to the means by which the reduction should be accomplished.

He would make the corporation tax 1 1/2 per cent, in place of the present 3 per cent; repeal the estate tax outright; revise surtax rates on individual incomes from $16,000 and $30,000; exempt from taxation income derived from American banks; acceptances held by foreign central banks of issue; and permit corporations with a net income of no more than $25,000 to file returns as individuals instead of as corporations if they so desired.

He argued against further abolition or reduction of the remaining war-time excise and miscellaneous taxes, declaring these should be kept "in the interest of a well-balanced tax system." In some quarters it had been thought the treasury would sanction further cuts in these levies.

Surplus Is Factor. "The factor which definitely determines the extent to which we may reduce taxes is the 1929 surplus," Mellon said. "The treasury has placed the probable receipts at the highest figure compatible with the most dependable forecasts and... believes that the tax reduction should not in any event be in excess of approximately $225,000,000."

The surplus of only $274,000,000 estimated for 1929 compares with a prospective surplus of $155,000,000 for 1928 and an actual surplus of $635,000,000 for the fiscal year 1927. Upon this basis and assuming that a tax revision bill becomes a law prior to next March 15, Mellon said, reductions will only affect the revenue for the last six months of 1928, but will apply to the full 12 months of 1929, and therefore the surplus for 1929 that must be considered.

While Mellon, accompanied by the committee room by Under Secretary Ogden Mills, who in the last Congress was a member of the ways and means committee, admitted the treasury in recent years had erred in estimating prospective surpluses he argued this had resulted from revenue derived from non-recurring sources.

He explained the treasury estimated that the same current receipts would be available in 1929 as in 1928, and were actually collected in 1927, adding that "there is no evidence available to justify the assumption that they will be larger, but there are certain definite indications that they may be smaller. The treasury hopes, however, he continued, that the unfavorable factors will be offset by the normal growth of the country."

Discusses Underestimates. Apparently taking cognizance of the already announced democratic plan for tax reduction of between $400,000,000 and $500,000,000, and also of statements by democratic leaders that in past years treasury estimates always have been too low, Mellon said that underestimates were not the result of "deliberate intention or policy."

"Every effort to avoid a repetition of this result," he declared, "has been made in preparation of the estimates presented here. I would be very reluctant to assume that in the present estimates there is any concealed surplus. In these figures, it is necessary to assume that the treasury will be able to collect the full amount of the taxes levied."

Not Like Medicine. Mellon said the program was not like medicine. It was a plan to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there is no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping.

has not consciously nor as a matter of policy played safe. "It is true that if a tax reduction or future appropriations were voted on the ground that the treasury estimates were low that those assuming responsibility for the result. "As far as expenditures are concerned," he continued, "the estimates have been furnished by the treasury. It should be remembered that estimates do not include any expenditures that may be incurred by reason of new legislation."

Fights Excise Tax Repeal. Mellon said he realized great pressure would be brought to bear on Congress to repeal the excise tax on automobiles, but that he could not agree to the advisability of such a step. Pointing out that federal appropriations for roads will reach $71,000,000 in the fiscal year 1928, and $75,000,000 in 1929, he declared that the repeal of the excise tax would result in immediate benefit of automobile owners "who," he added, "should make some contribution in return."

Taxes paid by railroads were mentioned by Mellon as another reason to justify the automobile tax, because "the automobile is the railroads chief competitor."

"It is quite fair," he questioned, "to ask the railroads to contribute to construction and maintenance of the roads on which their rivals operate while exempting the latter from any contribution."

Referring to excise taxes in general, the treasury secretary said he thought those on tobacco, amusement and admission and the stamp taxes also should be retained, declaring that "it is difficult to imagine a more ideal tax than one on the $40 ring-side seats at the recent Dempsey-Tenney fight," which amounted to $3.64. "The revenue yield from that particular fight was $242,065.71," he said.

Theater Taxes. Mellon argued that removing the tax on it, it would eliminate the tax on recreation and amusement of an overwhelming majority of citizens and that "those who pay more than 75 cents should be asked to make a contribution to the government."

He estimated that reduction of the corporation tax would decrease revenue by approximately $135,000,000, and permitting smaller corporations to file returns as partnerships would deprive the government of about $30,000,000 and $35,000,000 annually. Revision of specific surtax rates, he said, would mean about $50,000,000 less in revenue and repeal of the estate tax would result in about a $7,000,000 loss.

Corporation Tax. In suggesting reduction of the corporation tax, Mellon observed that corporations have received virtually no tax relief since 1921 and that "business conducted under the corporate form is today overtaxed as compared with individual enterprises and partnerships."

Discussing surtax rates, the secretary recalled that the revenue act of 1921 had levied a 10 per cent surtax on incomes over $10,000. In view of that, he advocated a revision of surtax rates in the intermediate brackets which would in effect reduce taxes on incomes between $16,000 and $30,000.

"By the simple expedient of adjusting the rate so that it will rise uniformly increasing 1 per cent for each additional $4,000 of income on incomes from $10,000 to $70,000," he said, "the rate will be granted to all surtax payers, but more particularly to those whose incomes fall in the intermediate brackets."

Mellon again heartily endorsed the treasury department's previous recommendation that the federal estate tax be repealed, saying "by tradition, legal theory and revenue necessity, this tax belongs to the states."

Income Tax Rates. The only change recommended Monday by Secretary Mellon in individual income tax rates to the House ways and means committee was a revision of surtax rates on incomes between $16,000 and $30,000. The effect of the new rates compared with present schedules is shown in the following table:

Ask for Information. During and after reading of the treasury recommendations, committee members, with democrats taking the lead, frequently asked Mellon and Mills for more information regarding methods employed by the treasury in reaching the conclusion that $225,000,000 represented the maximum available for tax reduction.

At one time Chairman Garner declared that he could not agree with treasury views regarding the revenue that would be obtained from the estate tax in 1929, and Representative Garner of Texas, ranking democrat on the committee, said that since 1923 estimates regarding prospective surpluses had been too low. Garner submitted a list of estimates and actual surpluses as follows:

Estimate for 1924, $329,000,000; actual surplus, $505,000,000; for 1925, $67,000,000 and $250,000,000; for 1926, $262,000,000 and $377,000,000; for 1927, $283,000,000 and $635,000,000.

In addition, Garner said that last December an estimate of $200,000,000 was made for the current fiscal year surplus and that the treasury had now placed it at $455,000,000.

Garner Hits Underestimates. "In view of the fact that for five years the president has underestimated in budget recommendations," Garner said, "don't you think that Congress at least must come to the conclusion that 'methods used in estimating a surplus are either inefficient or inaccurate?'"

Mills replied that the treasury had endeavored to explain how unexpected changes in budget recommendations, the collection of back taxes and revenue from other non-recurring sources had boosted treasury figures.

After the meeting today, Chairman Green said that reiteration by the

COMMITTEE TO SURVEY NEW CITY HALL NEEDS

Members of a special committee from the Atlanta Association of Building Owners and Managers will begin at once a survey of every department of the city government with a view of mapping out the needs of the respective divisions in the new city hall.

This decision was reached Monday afternoon at a joint meeting of the special city hall committee and the committee from the local association. The committee from the association is cooperating in making plans for Atlanta's new $1,000,000 municipal structure, and the move is designed to speed up completion of working drawings.

The aldermanic board is expected to name G. Lloyd Preacher as architect on the projected building at a meeting to be held Monday afternoon, and will begin preparation of plans at once.

Members of the association committee are Thomas W. Connolly, president of the local association; C. F. Palmer, chairman of the committee; R. R. Otis, C. F. Wilkinson, W. A. Jones, W. T. Weekley, S. S. Gibbs and Fred Shaefer.

Rome, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—"Expand the Chest," a slogan suggested by E. L. Wright, of Darlington school, and Mrs. C. M. Bryant, of South Rome, has been selected to serve the Community Chest leaders in their 1927-28 drive for $21,700 for charity in Rome and Floyd county. A prize will be presented both Mr. Wright and Mrs. Bryant.

The selection of the slogan was made by the advisory committee of the drive, composed of T. B. Owens, Walter S. Cochran and Aubrey Matthews, with chairman W. F. Randle. The drive will begin November 5, it was announced.

Membership Drive Planned at Rome By American Legion

Rome, Ga., October 31.—(Special.) Thursday and Friday of this week will be turned over to a membership drive by the members of the Shanty-in-Atlanta post, American Legion, No. 1234. The drive is being organized to run the membership to a higher figure this year than it has been in the history of the organization.

The membership committee, headed by R. L. Calloway, has been divided into two groups and a contest has been arranged between them, the winners to be the guests of the losers at a chicken dinner to be given at the Hotel Forrest armistice night.

Calloway will head one group himself and the other will be headed by former Commander J. L. Storey. The meeting in Rome Armistice day will be one of the most elaborate ever staged by the post, consisting of the memorial service and parade in the morning with public speaking at the grave of the Unknown Soldier at Mettville Hill cemetery and attending the memorial services at St. Peter's Episcopal church.

The day is being made a district affair and every post in the seventh district has been invited to Rome. State Commander Alex Chandler will be here as vice Commander Eugene Taylor.

treasury of its recommendation for repeal of the estate tax had not changed his opposition to such action, while Garner predicted that despite the fact that the figure of $225,000,000 congress ultimately would pass a tax bill calling for a reduction at least $100,000,000 more than that.

NO TARIFF REVISION WILL BE SOUGHT

Washington, October 31.—(AP)—Secretary Mellon, during his appearance today before the House ways and means committee to present the treasury recommendations regarding tax reduction, said in a reply to a question that the department did not propose to suggest a revision of tariff rates to congress this winter.

The statement was made in reply to a question by Representative Garner of Texas, ranking democrat on the committee, which has original jurisdiction in all revenue and tariff matters.

Mellon's answer was in line with the policy that the administration has pursued regarding the tariff and was regarded by a number of committee members as emphasizing that a more far-reaching revision of tariff schedules would meet with opposition from the administration.

During the last congress several proposals, including Representative Oldfield of Arkansas, and Hull of Tennessee, both members of the ways and means committee, declared that a downward revision of the tariff structure should be effected.

His arrangement with the Guggenheim fund will leave him free to engage in any activities to promote the cause of flying.

"At his request he will be at liberty to make such flights or other experimental efforts in behalf of aviation as he may choose, upon his initiative and responsibility."

"He will become a member and trustee of the fund, and his official headquarters will be at the office of the fund."

It was under auspices of the Guggenheim fund that Colonel Lindbergh made his first tour of the country, after making the first flight across the Atlantic from the United States to France.

TRAINMEN TO ASK $1 DAY INCREASE

Cleveland, Ohio, October 31.—(AP)—The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen will file tomorrow with every railroad west of the Mississippi river a request for nineteen per cent wage increase, or $1 per day. W. G. Lee, president of the trainmen, announced today.

The present agreement with western railroads expires March 1, 1928. Lee in making the announcement pointed out that filing of the request is laying groundwork for wage negotiations which, it is hoped, will be completed before the present agreement expires.

Last year trainmen east and south of the Mississippi negotiated a 7 1/2 per cent increase. Requests of trainmen west of the Mississippi for an other similar increase was turned down by the railroads and went to arbitration. The board refusing to grant the increase. Since then yardmen have negotiated a 7 1/2 per cent raise.

The railroads have 20 days to answer after filing of the request.

BRITISH RUSSIAN SHIP APPEAL IS DENIED

Washington, October 31.—(AP)—supreme court today refused to review a case involving the right of a British ship outside the 12 mile limit after it had been observed cruising within that zone. Jacob White and others, convicted in the federal district court of Oregon on the charge of violating the federal prohibition law aboard the "Pescewa" brought the case.

Early in 1925 the "Pescewa" picked up nine members of the crew of the "Cocha," which had been wrecked in the Pacific during a storm. The revenue cutter "Albatross" was cruising looking for the shipwrecked crew when it sighted the "Pescewa" about six miles off the Washington coast. The "Pescewa" was finally intercepted 16 miles off the coast, and notwithstanding the protests of her captain and officers, she was searched and towed into Astoria for a quantity of liquor had been found aboard.

Her captain and crew were prosecuted for conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition law and for other offenses under that act, and convicted. They protested that the seizure outside the limits in the British run treaty was illegal, and that the government had no right to use as evidence papers and liquor found by the search.

YULETIDE POISON HOOD WARNINGS ISSUED IN JERSEY

Newark, N. J., October 31.—(United News.)—A warning against poisonous "Christmas and new year's liquor" was issued here tonight by Dr. James M. Doran, national prohibition administrator.

The bootleggers' supplies of the coming holidays, he said, will be no more deadly than of last year, "for the simple reason that they were poisoned to the limit before."

"Anyway, I want to urge the people to beware," declared Doran. "He left tonight for visit of inspection to the prohibition departments of Buffalo, Chicago and Philadelphia, and will return to Washington Friday."

10-CENT HOLDUP

Negro Failed in Effort To Find Grocery Store's Cash.

Failed! Such melodramatic mental conclusion must have been reached Monday by robbers who obtained lost of 10 cents when they held up, with their own revolver, E. M. Robinson, proprietor of a store at 383 Lovejoy street.

Robinson told police that he had just opened his store Monday morning and had laid his revolver on the counter when a negro entered. The merchant turned his back to wait on the supposed customer and the negro snatched the pistol and leveled it at Robinson. Search revealed 10 cents, since the merchant had hidden Saturday's receipts, he said.

70 THOUGHT LOST IN BRITISH STORM

London, October 31.—(AP)—Hopes for between sixty and seventy persons to have been lost in the storm which swept over the British Isles over the week-end, virtually was given up tonight.

Fifty or more men of the Irish fishing fleet have been given up as lost. A message to Lloyds marine register says five of the crew of the Argentine ship Fortuna were drowned when the vessel sank off Arklow bank lightship. Other reports show a total of seventeen small vessels on the casualty list. Three tuberculosis patients in a hospital of Lancaster were drowned in their beds.

Reports of casualties continued to come in all day. In Fleetwood, Lancashire, six persons lost their lives and rescue work was in progress for 7,000 persons who were marooned by flood waters. Refugees were housed in schools and other public buildings. Patrol boats toured the streets all of last night and part of today, usually in deep water, but occasionally getting stranded upon piles of brick and general wreckage from buildings destroyed by the flood.

Virtually every bread winner at Lackan Bay, a village in County Mayo, Ireland, was drowned within a few hundred yards of his home when their fishing boats were dashed to pieces on the rocks. One family of these Irish fishermen and farmers lost five men. Thirty-one fishermen are missing from Cleggan, County Galway, and near-by fishing towns, while eight bodies have been washed ashore in that vicinity.

Thousands of seals were driven ashore by the storm. They uttered loud cries of anguish as they floundered along the beaches or sought shelter in the cliffs during the gale's fury.

Plumbers Take Cut.

Miami, October 31.—(AP)—Miami union plumbers today accepted a wage cut of $2 a day. Contractors expressed the belief that the move on the part of the plumbers "forecasts realization on the part of all crafts that the boom is over." The former scale was $14 a day, highest in the United States.

Chicago Pastors Seeking To Bar School Politics

Chicago, October 31.—(AP)—Entrance of a new element—the Chicago Union of Ministers—into the school controversy brought on by Mayor William Hale Thompson's charges of pro-British influence was forecast today.

"We will serve more than a temporary protest against the action of various political agencies in Chicago, who are trying to blind the eyes of the public by their insidious actions, which is no more than an insult to the best thinking element in this country," declared Dr. Robert Clements, member of a union committee to investigate school troubles, speaking before the city church federation.

"We must not only strive to stop the present meddling of politics in our schools, but by our action we must attempt to prohibit any similar recurrence of present conditions."

ROMANIA LIFTS NEWS CENSORSHIP

Bucharest, October 31.—(AP)—The political storm which has been raging throughout Rumania the last few days has abated to such an extent that the government tonight announced the suspension of the censorship.

Premier Bratianu conferred tonight with Ira Nelson Morris, of Chicago, respecting the financial and political situation. The country remains quiet.

REVOLT REPORTS ARE UNFOUNDED.

Vienna, October 31.—(AP)—Various reports of a revolution in Rumania have been found, on strict investigation, to be mere verbal rumors set afloat by elements inimical to Rumania. An unimpeachable source, two travelers who returned this evening from Rumania report that while there is undoubtedly an atmosphere of uneasiness in Rumania, there are no disturbances whatsoever in the country.

NO WAR FOOTING.
FOR GARRISONS.

Bucharest, October 31.—(AP)—The Rador News Agency announced today that reports printed in Belgrade that Rumanian garrisons would be placed on a war footing tomorrow are unfounded.

The report said that this move was occasioned by the conference of the peasants party at Alba Julia, where the conference actually will not assemble until November 20.

ORDER PREVAILS.
REPORTS DECLARE.

London, October 31.—(United News).—While Budapest newspapers published unconfirmed reports of revolution in Rumania, the Rumanian government today twice declared that order prevails.

The United News correspondent at Bucharest was informed that reports that Premier Bratianu had fled or was preparing to flee Rumania were entirely without foundation.

The government is complete master of the situation and the present monarchial order is not in jeopardy, an official communique said.

Public interest in the arrest of M. Manolescu, former undersecretary of state, who was arrested last week on the Rumanian border while carrying important letters from Prince Carol, is waning, the reports from Bucharest said.

Constantin Laptero, Rumanian charge d'affaires in London, issued a statement branding the revolution report as untrue. He said he had received telegrams from Bucharest indicating everything was calm and unrest was not anticipated.

Dispatches from Vienna, however, declared that, although Rumanian official communiques and private dispatches indicated Rumania was calm and Bratianu was master of the situation, Budapest newspapers had published unconfirmed reports that revolution broke out Sunday night. All efforts to confirm the reports failed.

CHARITIES BENEFIT IN FRANK ESTATE

The will of the late Moses Frank, prominent Atlantan, who died recently, was filed for probate Monday in the office of the ordinary of Fulton county.

No exact estimate of the estate was made. However, it is said to be valued at several hundred thousand dollars. Executors of the estate are Plumer D. McCarty and the late Mr. Frank's widow. The latest testament was dated December 11, 1924.

The greatest part of the estate was left by Mr. Frank to his widow and included bequests of 35 shares of the Eagle Cotton Oil company, of Meridian, Miss., and 25 shares of the Central Cotton Oil company of Jackson, Miss., as well as Atlanta real estate at 30-91 Whitehall street and 74-76 South Broad street. The residue of the estate will also be received by her after the numerous bequests are paid.

Charitable bequests included the following: A trust fund of $5,000, the income of which is to be used to help Atlanta blind; $1,500 for the Home for Incurables; $500 for the North Georgia conference Methodist orphanage at Decatur; $1,000 for the Atlanta Scottish Rite hospital; $1,000 for the Jewish Educational alliance; $1,000 for the Montefiore Relief association, and $5,000 to the Simon Wolf endowment fund.

Mr. McCarty, who was named as a valued employee, is to receive 35 shares of the Eagle Cotton Oil company, 25 shares of the Central Cotton Oil company and $5,000 in cash.

Mrs. Marion Frank Stern, a niece, of Brooklyn, N. Y., is to receive $70,000 in cash, while her three children, Eleanor, Robert and Marjorie Stern, are to receive $1,500 each. Edward Cahn, Jr., of Meridian, Miss., was left 44 shares of the Eagle company and 101 shares of the Central company, while a joint bequest of 25 Eagle shares and 24 Central shares was made to Malise, Franklin and Jean Carter, of Meridian.

Mrs. Ray Frank, of Brooklyn, a sister-in-law, was left $10,000 cash and a nephew, Max Frank, of New York, receives the same amount. The sum of $10,000 is to be divided among several distant relatives in his birthplace at Dusseldorf, Hesse-Darmstadt, Germany. Mr. Frank also left $1,000 to the Hebrew congregation and $1,000 to the Lutheran congregation at his birthplace.

Other individual bequests include $2,500 for Miss Emma H. Lewis, of Louisville, Ky.; $1,000 for Miss Elizabeth Fleck, of Atlanta; $1,000 to R. A. Sonn, of Atlanta, and $1,500 to his wife.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

External treatments seldom banish Piles.

The cause is inside—bad circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to the raw, sensitive membranes. Internal treatment is one safe method. Ointments and other external treatments can't give lasting relief.

J. S. Leonard, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in hundreds of cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Jacobs drug stores, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.—(adv.)

Chaliapin Divorce Action Reveals Soviet Revenge

(Copyright, 1927, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

London, October 31.—Behind the news from Moscow that Feodor Chaliapin, the famous Russian singer, is seeking a divorce, is a story of Soviet revenge because the singer refused to return to Moscow and participate in celebrating the tenth anniversary of Soviet rule. The wife, who is being sued for divorce, is Mme. Yola Chaliapin, from whom the singer has been separated for many years, and who has been supported by him regularly.

Years ago M. Chaliapin contracted another alliance and his companion recognized everywhere as his wife, toured the world with him. Then came the demand to return to Russia and sing in the state opera, which he declined. Christian Rakovsky, then Soviet ambassador to Paris, sent for the singer and his present wife, and asked for their passports. The ambassador refused to return the passport of the woman, declaring it was irregular because she was not the singer's legal wife. This made travel with his present companion impossible and M. Chaliapin in despair offered to go through with the divorce in the Soviet courts to regularize the present alliance.

It was expected this divorce would be arranged privately, but the Soviets published the story in the hope of embarrassing the recalcitrant singer further.

GRAY HAIR IS EASILY DARKENED

Tells How She Did It With a Home-Made Remedy.

Mrs. E. H. Boots, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement:

"Anyone can darken their gray or faded hair, and look twenty years younger, with this simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and 1-4 ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger."—(adv.)

WOMAN IS HELD OKLAHOMA CHIEF

Oklahoma City, Okla., October 31.—Action marked time in Oklahoma's latest political flare-up today, pending the presentation to Governor Henry S. Johnston of a petition asking a special legislative session to investigate allegations of an "unexplainable control" over the administration by Mrs. O. O. Hammonds, the governor's confidential secretary.

H. Tom Knight, chairman of the house appropriations committee, announced the petition probably would be presented within a week. Governor Johnston made known that his reply to the accusations would be in writing. The petition is said to carry the names of 69 members of the legislature.

Although declining to comment to day, both the governor and Mrs. Hammonds recently denied as "ridiculous" charges that the secretary exercised occult powers over Governor Johnston. At that time the governor said Mrs. Hammonds had no knowledge of the situation, an Oriental philosophy in which the governor asserted he was an interested student.

Mrs. Hammonds' husband, Dr. O. O. Hammonds, is state health commissioner. Reports that the Knight petition contained an appended statement asserting Dr. Hammonds had collected fees for examination of compensation applicants to the state industrial commission brought a statement from the health commissioner that the records of the state auditor's office would answer the charge.

The petition to be presented to the governor charges that "you know it is common talk throughout the state that she (Mrs. Hammonds) is governor in fact, and that while the naked legal title of governor is vested in you, she holds the office and, by an unexplainable control, performs its duties and exercises its powers."

FACTORY EFFICIENCY IS THE CRY IN RUSSIA
UNDER SOVIET RULE

Top photo shows the folding department of a textile factory at Yarovoznesensk; below, crowd attending opening of newly-constructed electrical power station at Sehaturka, near Moscow, Russia.

BY MADELIN LEOE.
Moscow, Russia, October 31.—Henry Ford, of Detroit, Mich., is the heroic figure of the union of socialist republics.

Next to Lenin, the embalmed idol whom thousands of Russians worship each evening between seven and eight, Ford probably is the most talked of man in Russia today.

The name Ford stands for the five, as well as for the tractor, the farm machine, and the efficient factory system he superintends.

His books are displayed on a virtual by every newsstand and in every bookstore; their tremendous circulation shows the eagerness with which he is read and discussed.

Boris Reinstein, who, when Lenin was alive, was the communist leader's right-hand man, gives his explanation of Ford admiration. Reinstein lived in Buffalo, N. Y., before the revolution of 1917, and now lives in the first house of the soviets in Moscow.

Want Efficiency.
"Before the upheaval here," Reinstein said, "intellect was the god of all the Russians. They wanted, great authors, great philosophers, great professors."

"Today all is changed. The intellectual class has fled to Berlin and Paris. Our people, who are crying for mechanical perfection, for technical brains, for factories, as efficient as American factories, with their speed and fine labor-saving devices."

To us it seems that Ford's factory is the highest example of mechanical perfection and organization. We judge by the output and the system under which the men work. Most Russians do not yet know how to work. They have no speed, no system. They feel that tomorrow they can begin a thing as easily as today."

Tractor Factory.
Russians recently began operation of their own tractor factory near Leningrad. Here, in a big, scattered plant, where once munitions were manufactured, they are trying to make their own tractors, street cars, and trains.

They have tried to adopt American methods to the extent of hiring efficiency experts and using imported machinery, but production still is slow and tedious.

Near Pitulov is a rubber factory that formerly was the Association of Russian-American Rubber manufacturers. Today it is known as the Red Triangle, and one of the rubber plants in the country. Last year there were 14,500 workers—50 per cent women—and 1,500 administrators and skilled mechanics there.

This rubber plant makes such products as galoshes a day, as well as boots, tires, asbestos, balls, etc. It now is taking over new commercial rubber methods, including compulsory baths for the workers, periods for drinking milk and washing teeth, vacations for the men who do strenuous work, masks to be worn in the rubber rooms. But most of the workers still are too slow to be given salaries. The majority get a flat sum and then more on piecework. In one department, where they make rubbers, one woman does as many as 10 different processes, one after the other. What the administrators in this factory are crying for is new machinery. On it depends their expansion.

Factory efficiency is the demand in soviet Russia.

SECOND BAPTIST PLANS
"FORWARD" CAMPAIGN

The "forward" campaign of the Second Baptist church will be officially inaugurated at 6:15 o'clock Wednesday evening, at which time the pastor, Dr. Carter Helm Jones, the board of deacons, the executive board and the executive board of the women's society will meet with 100 other members of the church for a dinner table conference in furtherance of the campaign and to make definite plans for home-coming Sunday, which will be held at the church on November 13.

A dinner has been arranged by the women's organization, and a special service program under the direction of Solon Druckenmiller. The forward campaign has been unanimously approved by the board of deacons and executive committee of the church.

BLIND EVANGELIST GAINS 65 CONVERTS

R. K. Fennel, well-known blind evangelist, conducted a series of services in the city Sunday and will remain for several days more, it was learned Monday. He conducted a service in the Fulton county town-square and there were 65 conversions among the prisoners.

Mr. Fennel for the past few years has devoted his entire time to work among prisoners and, according to reports, 144 prisoners have been converted under his leadership. He has covered 17 different states.

THE CITY BUILDER
DEVOTES NUMBER
TO THANKSGIVING

The November issue of the City Builder came from the press yesterday with a cover devoted to the festive idea of Thanksgiving and with a number of feature articles by prominent Atlantans setting forth the reasons why Atlanta should be grateful on this Thanksgiving day. Among these are Judge Samuel H. Sibley, Ivan E. Allen, chairman of the Atlanta forward commission, who calls attention to the blessings of the year and mentions especially the increase in population and general business which has resulted from the work of the advertising campaign. Colonel R. L. Buz, president of the Atlanta, Birmingham & Coast railway, and W. W. Orr, manager of the George Moseley clothing company, also contribute articles on the Thanksgiving idea. Platt Young writes a poem on the spirit of Thanksgiving.

Other articles in the November issue are: "When Autumn Comes to Georgia," by Paul Hinder, Atlanta; "General Motors Comes to Atlanta," by Frederick T. Novell; "Elijah Organizes a Chamber of Commerce," by G. C. Ward, Ellijay; "The Atlanta Churches Homes for Girls," by W. L. Shaddox; "Atlanta Leads in Office Buildings," by C. F. Palmer; "Panama City Greets Atlanta," by Will H. Muse; "Atlanta—An Interpretation," by John Temple Graves II, Jacksonville; "Character Is What Counts—An Interview With Lindbergh," by Lonnie D. Newton; "Lindbergh Comes," by John Wingfield Gatewood; "Notes From the Secretary's Desk," by R. S. Barlow.

M'KENZIE SPEAKER AT ROTARY LUNCHEON

Roy McKenzie, president of a business college at Chattanooga, Tenn.,

and member of the Chattanooga Rotary club, will address the regular luncheon meeting today at the Capital City club of the Atlanta Rotary club. Mr. McKenzie will speak on "Business Ethics."

Men . . . !

There are men . . . lots of them . . . who will meekly follow the dictates of the mode a reasonable distance, but do refuse to have fashion's halter thrown over their heads.

They desire, above all things, to be neatly groomed. They want their clothes to not look obsolete, and yet not exactly the "last word," so to speak.

And, for these men, we have just such suits as will make them feel superbly groomed . . . but not spectacular. You get the idea.

Greet and Welcome

The Members of the National Association of Ice Manufacturers --- Here in Convention

Ice manufacturers from all over the United States have assembled in Atlanta this week.

To these men representing the largest plants in the country, who have spent their brain and effort in supplying the homes of America with the most satisfactory and economical way of refrigeration, we extend a most cordial welcome. All Atlanta opens its arms to greet you and practically every home joins us in this message of gratitude for what you have done for them in the past and what you are going to do for them in the future.

We, as your co-workers in Atlanta, express to you the general feeling of friendship---and warm hand-clasps of welcome.

ICE--Nature's Way of Refrigeration

A Product of Local Industry

ICE, the cold-maker of all ages, is still nature's best means of refrigeration. It is silent, to be sure, ever efficient and self-dependent. Its clear crystal depths hold no motor or other mechanical devices to go wrong or to prove injurious.

ICE refrigerates without destroying the delicate flavors of food and the cost is most economical.

A refrigerator filled with ICE will carry you thru every emergency---in sickness and in health, it is the one thing upon which you can put your faith and trust of doing the job of "refrigeration" properly.

ICE will serve you when all else fails. It is dependable, most economical and has proven its worth thru years of practical application.

It is nature's way of refrigeration and a product of local industry.

Use ice for your refrigeration!

HOUGHTON MINE
RESCUERS FIND
FOURTH VICTIM

Houghton, Mich., October 31.—(P)—The body of Ernest Schilling was recovered from the Quinlan mine late today, making the fourth since a fall of rock buried seven men last Saturday.

It was the second recovered today. Three others are still under the rock. The hand of one of the buried victims was clasping Schilling's foot so tightly it was necessary to cut away Schilling's foot to free his body.

Six wives and 24 children were left desolate by the crash, which followed an air blast in the copper mine.

With four bodies recovered, the rescuers were digging at tone of rock to reach the three remaining victims.

The copper company's list of dead recovered names: John D. Iradson, 47, widower with two sons; Avid Naask, 57, survived by a widow, four dependent children and five grown children; Emil Aitamas, widow and six children; Ernest Schilling, 37, widow and no children.

The three still trapped and believed dead are: Henry Hirsikoski, 44, wife and no children; George Williams, wife and two daughters; Joseph Knofsky, wife and four children.

$1,000,000 IN ALE
IS POURED INTO NEWARK SEWERS

Newark, N. J., October 31.—(P)—A million dollars' worth of ale was poured into the sewer here today after it had lain for more than 16 years in the vaults of the brewery of Christian Feigensapan, Inc. The ale was disposed of to free the property of government supervision and because it was becoming acidulous.

At one time the ale was about to be loaded in tanks for shipment to the Heinz pickle plant in Pittsburgh when J. J. Heinz, said to be an ardent prohibitionist, suddenly issued orders to his subordinates to have nothing to do with it.

In all there were 303,552 gallons.

Air Circus Planned.

Santa Monica, Calif., October 31.—(P)—An airplane meet in which army, navy and commercial craft will participate, commemorating the completion of the army's around the world flight, will be held at Clover field, near here, November 13. The meet will be the third annual affair staged under the auspices of the Southern California chapter of the National Aeronautic association.

Sheep Survives Arrow.

Bozeman, Mont.—(P)—A mountain guide recently brought in the skull of a Rocky mountain sheep in which was imbedded an Indian arrowhead. It was apparent from the growth of bone around the arrow that the wound had not been fatal and that the big-born probably carried the arrow point in its head many years before death.

GAINESVILLE RAILROAD PETITION TO BE HEARD

The petition of J. C. Quillen & Bros. for a final decree and order to sell the Gainesville and Northwestern railroad is expected to come up for consideration before Federal Judge Samuel H. Sibley in United States district court on Saturday.

The Gainesville and Northern has been the subject of litigation in district court for the past four years, ever since the filing of a bill in equity against the railroad by the Piedmont corporation, of Dover, Del., on November 8, 1923. The federal government has a claim of $75,000, with interest, against the road, and one question before the court is expected to be the priority of the government's claim and the material men's liens.

2-YEAR PEN TERM IN NARCOTIC CASE

Hilda Renfro, alleged "queen" of a ring of Atlanta dope peddlers arrested in a raid by federal narcotic agents several months ago, pleaded guilty Monday in United States district court to four cases of purchasing and selling morphine. Judge Samuel H. Sibley sentenced the Renfro woman to two years in a federal penitentiary.

The four cases against the Renfro woman were consolidated into one criminal, and enforcement of the sentence was deferred one week pending the posting of $1,500 bond. The penal institution is to be designated by the attorney general.

Three others pleaded guilty to narcotic charges Monday before Judge Sibley, while four entered guilty pleas to prohibition charges, and another person was indicted by a jury in a prohibition case.

Son Huff, negro, pleaded guilty to selling morphine, and was given two years in the Atlanta penitentiary. On a similar plea, J. A. Gillard was sentenced to a year and a day, while imposition of sentence on Walter Brasswell was deferred until Monday. Gillard was charged with selling narcotics, while Brasswell was charged with possession of narcotics. Enforcement of Gillard's sentence was deferred 30 days until $1,000 bond.

Mrs. Josie Spake was convicted on a charge of possessing whisky and was fined $250. Judge Sibley, suspended $200 of the fine, however, and allowed the woman 30 days to pay the $50 on condition that she post $50 bond.

Plea of guilty to prohibition charges cost Bill Reid, negro, 60 days in jail; C. C. Crooks, second offender, 30 days; Claude Johnson, second offender, three months; and Frank H. Langley, $100 on the day lay charge and $200 or three months on a charge of resisting an officer.

REV. R. D. STINSON TELLS NEED OF GOD IN EVERYDAY LIFE

Rev. Richard D. Stinson, preaching Sunday morning in Fort Street M. E. church, of which Rev. W. B. Wood is pastor, took as his topic, "The Lord Knoweth How to Deliver the Godly Out of Temptation, and to Rescue the Upright Into the Day of Judgment to be Punished."

"The church, the home and the proper schoolhouse," said Rev. Stinson, "have almost everything to do with our daily life and its development. We have been rushed in at a time and in a condition that are not good for us."

"The youth impresses us that the world will look after the survival of the fittest. Schools, books and explanations, however, cannot take the place of the things which God has set forth which must play the strong and most comprehensive part in daily life."

"As a child, race we are having more trouble today than we have ever had in our church circles, for the reason we are trying to get along with books and worldly things and leaving God, humbleness and other essentials out. Our households are given to much pleasure, our children are not employed, we are comparing our civilization of less than a hundred years to that of many years ago."

"Our people, short pleasures, idleness and a disposition not to work seem to have the center of the stage."

"We seem not to be as devout and upright as our fathers were. We do not differ when our eyes are opened and the heart is quickened in the right direction. If we may trust God those things will be done for us which are necessary for us."

Armistice Day Poppy Sale Will Aid Disabled Veterans of World War

On November 11—Armistice day—people of Atlanta again will be given the opportunity to buy poppies as a means of helping in the relief work among disabled veterans of the world war.

Mrs. Arthur Hazzard, president of the Atlanta Poppy Council, has charge of the poppy sale, states that plans are going forward now in organizing an efficient sales force and practically every corner in the city will be "covered" by one or two poppy salesladies.

Mrs. Hazzard pointed out that all proceeds from the making and sale of poppies goes directly for relief work. Disabled soldiers make the poppies and receive one cent each for them. All funds realized from the sale are used 100 per cent for charity work, there being no administrative charge in any way.

BURGLARS LOOT STUDENTS' HOMES OF CASH, WATCHES

The residence at 690 Spring street was entered Monday morning and watches stolen from Ernest Defoe and Edward W. Lowe. A pair of trousers was also rifled of small change. Robbers entered a house at 45 Third avenue, N. E., Sunday night and searched several rooms, stealing $22 from Hugh Martin and a watch from G. A. Montgomery. Earl G. Summers also lost an empty pocketbook.

NATIONS LEAGUE NOW UNIVERSAL

BY HENRY WOOD.
Geneva, October 31.—(United News)—The League of Nations' dream of universality practically has become a reality.

The United States is now participating in virtually all league activities save those which are political and the soviet government decided Monday to take part in the league's preparatory disarmament conference.

League observers contend eight years' experience has demonstrated it is unimportant whether nations are members of the international body so long as they willingly cooperate in the league's activities.

Both the soviet government and Turkey already are collaborating in the league's economic activities, while Mexico sent an official observer to the economic conference.

Thus, Ecuador is virtually the only nation in the world not yet collaborating and, therefore, the league now regards its activities and influence as virtually universal in scope.

The league's further growth is assured as both Iraq and Egypt have announced their desire to join as soon as arrangements with England permit. Furthermore, it is believed here that the Argentine parliament next spring will vote again to become affiliated with the league, which is calculated to influence favorably Brazil's possible return.

Sir Austen Chamberlain's recent conversation in Morocco with General Primo de Rivera, Spanish dictator, regarding Spain's position in the league, may at least assure Spain's collaboration.

The soviet decision to collaborate in the disarmament conference scheduled for November 30, came as a pleasant surprise. The decision was announced in a note from Foreign Minister George Tchitcherine to Sir Eric Drummond, league secretary, announcing that the Voronski affair—a soviet diplomat, who was assassinated in a Swiss restaurant three years ago—had been amicably settled.

The soviet had intended originally to participate in the disarmament commission's affairs when it was created, but refused on the grounds that the Voronski murder made it impossible to take part in any conference meeting in Switzerland.

The Russian government's absence was largely responsible for the commission's efforts last spring to reach an agreement on military disarmament of the Russian border states—Finland, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Rumania. The commission found, however, that it was impossible to reach agreements while Russia did not participate.

With both Russia and the United States now participating, league proponents declare that the chances of success for the disarmament conference—which may not be held for a year or two because the preparatory conference is disagreed on a program—are greatly enhanced.

Russia's presence makes a total of 26 nations in the preparatory conference, constituting the most serious effort yet made toward disarmament.

Ty Cobb Says He Is Not Ready To Retire From Baseball

Jackets Back, Turn Thoughts To Vanderbilt

Tornado Begins Work for Game in Nashville Saturday.

BY BEN COTHMAN.
The Tech team returned home from South Bend Monday morning with the Notre Dame game completely forgotten and turned its full attention to the meeting with Vanderbilt in Nashville on Saturday night.

The Vanderbilt game will need all of the attention of the Jackets because Mr. McGuffin and his Commodore would like nothing more than to make it two in a row. In Tech's last year, on Grant field, the Commodores turned in a 13-6 victory. But the last time the Jackets were in Nashville—1925—Tech won by a 7-0 score when the late Dick Wright cut off tackle for 55 yards and a touchdown.

Team in Good Shape.
Tech is in good shape for the game. The team fought as hard as it knew how against the Irish, but time was called for Tech only one time on account of injuries. That was along towards the end of the game when Stumpy Thompson was hit in the nose. Stumpy had little to say of the game, except: "I never got so tired of getting up off the ground in my life."

Bob Parham still has a bad knee. It was injured in the final practice on Grant field last week and kept him on the bench all of Saturday afternoon. Trainer Burton thinks that it will be okay for next Saturday.

Monday's workout consisted largely of grass drill with Don Miller putting the boys through their paces on the exercises. A lengthy signal drill followed. In the meantime the scrubs were running around Hank Bookman and running Vanderbilt signals, which the varsity will learn later in the week.

One Hard Scrimmage.
The idea prevails at the flats that there won't be much scrimmaging this week. The squad played a hard game Saturday, and Coach Alex will probably put the team through one healthy scrimmage and possibly two. The time is out short one day for Thursday. The Tornado will spend another night on a Pullman on its second and last road trip of the year.

Emory Sophs Lose to Seniors

The Seniors triumphed the Sophomores at Emory Monday afternoon and clinched the intramural football championship. The score was 7 to 0. After battling through the first half with neither side scoring, the two teams continued the same bitter fight in the third period. Then towards the close of the game, the Sophomores fumbled and Lawson, end on the Senior team, picked up the ball and ran 32 yards for a touchdown.

In this same quarter Packer, of the Sophomores, broke away around right end and made a 10-yard run, being downed on the Seniors' 20-yard line.

Monday morning the Freshmen defeated the Bulldogs by a score of 13 to 6.

EXPERTS LOOK TO ANOTHER DEMPSEY BOUT

New York, October 31.—(AP)—The possibility that Jack Dempsey would seek the heavyweight crown of Gene Tunney next July appeared today as the former king of the pugilistic realm held a lengthy conference with Tex Rickard in Madison Square Garden.

Although neither Rickard nor Dempsey would admit that the conference concerned affairs of state, the report was current that the promoter sought Dempsey's agreement to meet Tunney early in the outdoor season as protection against the plans of Jim Miller, Chicago promoter, to match the titleholder against a logical opponent in the midwest some time in September. Rickard's agreement with Tunney was said to call for a title defense some time before September 1, 1928.

"I have not signed to fight anyone," Dempsey said, "and I haven't even decided whether or not I want to enter the ring again. That must wait until spring, when the lawsuits of Jack Kearns and Teddy Hayes have been settled."

Will Fight for Tex.
Dempsey admitted, however, that in case he does try again to lift the event, he will fight for Tex. Rickard, who is now in the hands of the Chicago fall, the battling will be done under Rickard's direction in accordance with an agreement entered into some time ago.

"Just now," Dempsey said, "I'm here to fight Jack Kearns' suit for $233,333.33, that opens in Trenton, N. J., November 15. We're going to the bat to settle one and for all whether or not he has any money coming to him from me."

Dempsey, apparently in splendid health, said that Lew P. Felt, his attorney during the recent comeback campaign, probably would handle his affairs again in the event of a new result on Tunney's title. There should be no need of a decision in that matter, Dempsey said, until a return to the ring has been decided upon definitely.

City League Basketball

The city basketball league is assured of at least six teams as signified by the business meeting Monday at Trammell Scott's. Several changes may be made in the forming of this circuit and as there are about three more prospects it is requested that any concerned contemplating having a team should have a representative present at the next meeting, Monday at 7:30 at Trammell Scott's, 66 N. Broad street.

The league expects to open about the eighth of December and play every Thursday night on the Atlanta Athletic club court. The names for referees should be submitted at the next business meeting.

The usual franchise fee of $10.00 will be required, and this will be refunded at the close of the season to the different teams that complete the schedule.

It is expected that the coming season will create more interest and enthusiasm than the last. Several teams report good material and it only remains to find some available for the coming season.

GATORS BEGIN WEEK'S WORK FOR GEORGIA

University of Florida, Gainesville, October 31.—November, which brings to the gridiron one great football battle after another, dawned most auspiciously in Jacksonville next Saturday when Georgia and Florida swing into action in the south's most colorful contest of the day. It is the first time since 1915, when the Bulldogs inaugurated their football relations, that Jacksonville has had the privilege of playing host to these notable rivals of the football realm.

In five games since 1915 Florida has failed to register a victory over the Red and Black, and while critics assert Tom Soberg has a gigantic assignment in the Georgia game Saturday, the Florida mentor will drill his men all week in hopes of smashing down the triumphant banner that has been waving in the Bulldog camp all season.

With the Mercer game now history, and Florida's 1927 "homecoming" fast passing from everything but memory, the Florida campus is "pointing" with their Gators for the Georgia clash, and virtually every student will be in Jacksonville for the contest. Frank Rogers, Jacksonville manager for the University of Florida, has secured special rates for virtually every railway entering Jacksonville, and judging from the advance ticket sales, the greatest crowd ever assembled in the green city for an athletic contest will be on hand when the whistle is sounded at 3 o'clock.

Georgia scored a 27 to 0 victory over Florida when the two teams opened play in 1915, in Jacksonville. The following year, in Athens, Florida was blanked again, 21 to 0. In 1919, at Tampa, the "Gators" lost another 16 to 0, and in '20, at Athens, the Bulldogs ran wild, winning 56 to 0. Relations were resumed by the two teams last year at Athens, but it was again disastrous for the Orange and Blue, the Alligators losing 32 to 9, but in scoring the men of Soberg accomplished something against Georgia that no previous Gator eleven had attained.

Florida is just commencing the longest part of her schedule, as she takes on Georgia, Alabama, Washington and Lee and Maryland in rapid succession. "Horse" Bishop, star Florida halfback, who has been out of the past two games, is expected to be ready for action against the Bulldogs, and "Tommy" Owens, another fleet back, who broke his wrist last week, will be available for play.

GEORGIA'S WIN OVER YALE ALONE MAKES IT GREAT FOOTBALL TEAM

BY WHITNER CARY.
Eastern sport writers are a hard bunch to convince that anything good in an athletic way can come out of the south.

The boys who push the typewriters in that neck of the woods are willing to hand our section due credit to the beauty of southern women and, to a limited extent, to give praise to certain rather neat gains made by the armies of Lee and Jackson against the blue lines in the late '20s. But when it comes to modern day football, the easterners just can't believe that anything especially powerful can be launched from below that mythical geographical boundary known as the Mason-Dixon line. With them every eastern victory over a southern school is a matter of course, while any defeat of one of their institutions by a Dixie team is a tremendous upset. The latest example of this is reflected in Georgia's sensational victory over Yale.

It is quite true that southern victories in the past have been exceedingly few. But the fact that it was when one of our schools occurred the winning southern school should have full credit.

Excitement Is Promised On Mat Card

Contos Brings Headliners Here To Open Third Wrestling Season.

In the opening of his third wrestling season at the city auditorium Thursday night Matchmaker John Contos is carrying out his promise of bringing in new and talented grapplers to provide thrills and excitement for the Atlanta fans.

Both Wayne "Big" Munn and Cowboy Rogers, who were in one of the feature bouts of the show, are making their first appearances before Atlanta fans. Munn is one of the best wrestling grapplers in the game, and is generally conceded to be stronger than any other mat star.

Jack Washburn, the Oklahoma Cowboy, who tackles Ed Strangler Lewis in the other feature bout of the program, is also comparatively new here, having appeared at the auditorium only once last season.

Washburn is another of the heavyweights, tipping the scales at 230 pounds and being possessed of extraordinary strength.

Andy Horn, who opposes Jim Browning in an old fashioned, one-hour opener of the card, is also being introduced here for the first time, and while he is not yet an outstanding star is regarded as a corner in the wrestling circuit.

Plenty of Excitement.
The Thursday night show promises to be rich in excitement and thrills, particularly as several of the grapplers on the card are rough and ready matmen who are used to the slightest circle from which they consider fair play.

Rogers, who will have his hands full in tackling Munn, is said to be exceptionally quick and his feelings may be hurt by Munn's style of wrestling, which in the main consists of subduing his opponent by brute strength.

Washburn is another who loses his temper easily and it would be no surprise to see him resort to rough tactics in an effort to hold his own against "Headlock Big Joke."

Washburn, who holds the state mat championship of Oklahoma, claims that he can prove that Lewis is a "joke hold," but wrestlers who have seen the former champion in action would not incline to agree with the Oklahoma giant.

Tickets for the first match of the season, which has aroused considerable enthusiasm, are available at "Boss" Place and at the Piedmont Hotel.

No Worry.
Folk shouldn't worry about the supply of gas becoming low. The 1928 presidential campaign will soon be here.

Three Georgia Players On Injured List

Bulldogs Get Down To Work for Tilt With Florida in Jacksonville.

BY BOB SHERROD.

Athens, Ga., October 31.—After a victorious trip to New Orleans the Georgia Bulldogs resumed their gridiron activities Monday afternoon, beginning preparations for their next game. Only an hour was the day's orders for Monday and little other than limbering up exercises occupied the attention of the Red and Black.

Statistics disclose a remarkable fact about the diversity of the Bulldog attack. Eight players have scored the Georgians' last ten touchdowns. Here's the scoring order for the Auburn and Tulane games: Hooks, Dudley, McCarty, Nash, Cox, McGuffin, Rothstein, Dudley, Hooks and Cook. Here it is seen that Hooks and Dudley are the only men who have scored more than one touchdown out of the last ten. No one man has made more than one touchdown in either game, and there were five made in each.

McCarty is still the team's leading scorer with Hooks climbing fast. The scoring is as follows: McCarty 26, Hooks 20, McGuffin 18, Dudley 18, Rothstein 12, Johnston 8, Estes 6, Nash 6, Cox 6, Cook 6; team total 112, opponents 13.

The Bulldog goal line is yet to be crossed by a southern team, although Auburn scored a field goal. Yale put over a field goal and a touchdown.

Buzz Collins, fast second string end, is out of the game for three weeks according to the coaches, on account of an injury sustained in the Tulane tussle. Ed Roland, varsity center, and Bobby Hooks, varsity halfback, were absent from Monday's practice on account of minor injuries, which, it is thought, will be righted sufficiently for them to face Florida in Jacksonville.

Junior High Volleyball

Have you ever thought it through—

Bass Junior High school held its girls' volleyball tournament Monday afternoon on the campus, the first time of the ninth grade winning two matches.

The first match was to eliminate one of the seventh grade teams. Team one took the game 16-7, but not until it had put up a stiff fight.

The eighth grade teams played in the second match and team two in the second half pulled away from the first team, winning 21 to 12.

Team two also won in the ninth grade, eliminating the older girls and half 19 to 12.

The plucky little team from the seventh grade sprang a surprise when it played the eighth grade off its feet. The youngsters won their match 16 to 7.

After an intermission the final match was played in which the eighth grade by their size and experience outplayed the plucky seventh grade team. In the first half of the match the teams played an even tussle. Volley after volley came back and forth across the net and at the end of this period the ninth grade had but a few points' lead. In the second period the superior serving of the older girls began to tell on the tiring youngsters of the seventh grade and they took a lead never to be overtaken.

Thursday afternoon the boys' matches will be played.

P. C. IS NEXT FOE ON CARD FOR PETRELS

BY FRED MEACHIN.
The Stormy Petrels, defeated and held scoreless in their first three attempts of the season, are now hard at work preparing for the next number on the program, the Presbyterian college game, to be played next Saturday afternoon at Miller's.

Although the Oglethorpe team has failed to make any creditable showing thus far this year, they are forgetting the past and are looking to the future, hoping that the dark clouds of defeat will be turned wrong side out and reveal a victorious silver lining.

The workout Monday afternoon on Hernando field was chiefly devoted to the correction of faults noted in the game last Saturday with the Purple Hurricane. All of the Petrels came out of this contest minus any serious injuries and are in good shape for the approaching encounter with P.C.

A scrimmage with the rats is scheduled for this afternoon, to be followed by a similar workout Wednesday. The Presbyterian boys from South Carolina should put up a tough fight with the Oglethorpe bunch, and since this is another S. I. A. A. game, both teams will be fighting hard for a victory. P.C. has played five games this year, losing one to Mercer, tying three and winning one in four other starts.

Dillon worked for nearly an hour to land his prize. The tarpon was 5 feet 2 inches long. Port Aransas is one of the fishermen's mecca, many eastern sportsmen having fished for tarpon there.

NICARAGUA BANDIT BANDS IN BATTLE

Managua, Nicaragua, October 31.—(AP)—The marine command has learned from authoritative sources that the liberal bandit leader, Jose Leon Diaz, with 200 followers, last week attacked the conservative bandit, Anastasio Hernandez, and a five-hour engagement north of Ocotal, close to the Honduras border, ensued, in which the fighting is reported to have been severe.

Hernandez escaped, but his two lieutenants, Jose Leon Sandoval and Jose Torres, and several of his band members, were killed. Diaz lost a few men.

There is much dissension among the hands in the department of Nueva Segovia, since the presence of the United States marines and national constabulary has kept the leaders of the bandits away from the large villages, and thus has deprived them of the privilege of looting and sacking. Hernandez previously had been committing all sorts of atrocities and depredations in the department.

Negley Now Rules Alone as Mayor Of Indianapolis

Indianapolis, Ind., October 31.—(AP) Claude E. Negley reigned alone as mayor of Indianapolis tonight. His most active contender for the place—Irving M. Holmes, an attorney with a following of an adverse court ruling today on his motion to dissolve an order restraining him from interfering with Negley.

Superior Judge Joseph M. Milner in his ruling declared Holmes "is not now and never has been entitled to the office of mayor." A short time later, Holmes delivered his keys to the mayor's chambers to Negley.

Council Names Successor. Negley will serve until Tuesday, November 8, when the city council will meet to select a man to serve the unexpired term of John L. Duvall. In 1920 the city will begin functioning under the city manager form of government.

Disinclination to jeopardize the city's credit by a long drawn out court fight was given by Holmes as a reason for giving up the battle which began last Thursday after the city council decided Duvall had not been mayor since his resignation, September 22, of violating the corrupt practice act. Almost at the same time the council was meeting to select Negley, its president, as temporary mayor. Duvall resigned, Mrs. Duvall, his wife, as city controller, claimed she automatically became mayor. She tendered her resignation 15 minutes after naming Holmes as city controller and Holmes then laid claim to the office of mayor.

The action brought great relief to thousands of city employees who were morose will enjoy pay day as usual. Acting Mayor Negley, whose term of office will end Tuesday, November 8, took the necessary steps to insure the distribution of more than a half million dollars in pay checks immediately after the court's ruling.

Three in Race. Holmes' withdrawal still leaves three other persons, besides Negley, claiming some right to the office but only one has made any move to gain it. They are Walter Myers, democratic candidate against Duvall in the 1927 election; William C. Buser, formerly city controller under Duvall, and Joseph Hogue, city controller under the Low Shank administration which preceded that of Duvall.

Hogue filed an ouster suit against Duvall before the latter's resignation, laying claim to the mayoralty on the ground that Low Shank never had been legally succeeded by Duvall in office. Since Shank is dead he held that as city controller under Shank, he was entitled to the office.

St. Louis, October 31.—(AP) A group of southern and middlewestern farm leaders was here today arranging the program for a conference tomorrow and Wednesday to consider farm relief. Cotton and corn will be principal subjects.

No advance publicity was given the gathering to avoid the appearance of propaganda, it was said, and those here today were reluctant to discuss it. They made it plain, however, the intention is to solidify political power of the cotton and grain states with a view to bloc action in the coming session of congress and possibly in next year's political race.

George W. Donaghey, of Little Rock, former governor of Arkansas, a farmer and banker, called the conference.

Among those here today were Donaghey, William Hirth, leader of the Missouri Farmers' association; Zenophon Caveno, president Missouri Cotton Growers' Cooperation association; Congressman H. P. Folmer, of Kentucky; S. C. a member of the house agricultural committee; and Chester Davis, of a Chicago agricultural service organization.

Governor Adam McMillan, of Nebraska, has accepted an invitation to speak.

NORBECK DECLARES HE WILL SUPPORT FRANK O. LOWDEN

Waterbury, N. D., October 31.—(AP) United States Senator Peter Norbeck, of South Dakota, announced today he would support former Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, for the 1928 republican presidential nomination.

"Economic justice for the north-west will be the major issue in the coming presidential campaign," Senator Norbeck said in a statement. "The states affected must make a common cause, and support a candidate for president who is friendly to our present need. But this is not sufficient. We must give our support to some candidate who has a chance of winning."

"The logic of the situation points to former Governor Lowden."

GREEK ROYALISTS CHARGED IN PLOT TO SLAY LEADER

Athens, October 31.—(United News)—Authorities today charged that royalists were in a plot to assassinate George Papadimitriou, leader of the communist press and activities, and possibly, dissolve all communist organizations.

The president's assistant is a communist and anarchist, it was said. "Condemnation is satisfactory. His right temple was grazed by the would-be assassin's bullet."

BALTIMORE NOW ENTERS IN WAR ON FIGHT FILMS

Baltimore, Md., October 31.—(AP)—Those responsible for transportation of Dempsey-Tunney fight films shown in a local theater today will be prosecuted.

United States District Attorney Woodcock asserted. Those aiding and abetting in illegal transportation of the pictures may include the manager of the theater showing them, under his interpretation of the law. No action on the case will be taken until a special department of justice investigator has reported, however, he said. In an opinion to the state board of moving picture censors, Assistant Attorney James declared the state body was under no obligation to prevent the exhibition simply because it portrayed a boxing match in another state.

Mrs. Field Improves. Paris, October 31.—(AP)—Mrs. Marshall Field, of Chicago, although still seriously ill at the American hospital here, showed slight improvement over the week-end, it was announced today by the attending physician, Dr. Edmund L. Gros, chief of the hospital staff.

Formal Bow of Season's Buds Marks Gay Halloween Ball

Brilliance and splendor swayed before mysticism and witchery Monday evening when the annual Halloween ball at the Piedmont Driving Club launched the winter season at this popular club and marked the formal presentation to Atlanta society of the members of the 1927-28 Debutante club.

The festive spirit reigned throughout the evening, the occasion assembling one of the most brilliant gatherings of the season. The ballroom presented a scene of eerie charm and colorfulness with its elaborate decorations of Halloween novelties. A profusion of autumn foliage, displaying the brilliant tints of fall, combined with giant yellow, bronze and white chrysanthemums, banded the doorways and window recesses. Black cats with backs arched to high heaven, witches astride their broomsticks, and silhouettes etched in brilliant orange and black, marched across the ceiling and formed decorative friezes around the ballroom walls. Sheaves of cornucopias, revealing grinning pumpkin faces, banded the tall columns ranging the length of the ballroom, and jack-o-lantern shades covered the ceiling lights. Huge pumpkins were suspended at intervals from the ceiling, and pumpkin lanterns gleaming from mounds of golden yellow marigolds and chrysanthemums formed effective centerpieces on the tables where dinner was served.

Debutantes' Table.

The most interesting feature of the evening, and one which always centers society's most cordial attention, was the entrance into the ballroom of the season's lovely young buds, each wearing a shimmering white gown, so appropriate and becoming to her youthful beauty, and each carrying on this occasion an old-fashioned bouquet formed of tiny crimson roses and white lilies, finished with a dainty lace paper frill. The debutantes and their escorts were seated at a long table, lavishly decorated and placed in the center of the ballroom. A large plateau of handsome yellow chrysanthemums and marigolds, edged in ferns, white roses and sprays of valley lilies, adorned the center of the table. The smaller mounds of the same flowers being placed at either end of the table. At intervals were huge lighted pumpkin faces, grinning from mounds of marigolds and chrysanthemums. The favors were attractive French novelties suggestive of Halloween, the place cards being silhouettes painted in orange and black and also suggestive of the season.

Covers were placed for Miss Mary Louise Brumby, president of the Debutante club, and her guest, Miss Helen Crowell, of Charlotte, N. C.; Miss Anne Spalding, treasurer, and her guest, Miss Adelaide Douglas, of Washington, D. C.; Miss Mary Harvey, secretary, Misses Anne Kessnich, Edna Belle Raine, Florence Eckford, Mary Matheson, of Philadelphia, Catherine Boyd, of Chicago, Mary Louise Pearce, Mary Wellborn, of Virginia, Virginia Courts, with her escort, Joe McCord, Charles Gardner, Willard McBurney, George Harrison, Albert Howell III, Clarence May, Charles Boynton, Joseph Duckworth, Lawson Kiser, Oscar Burnett, of New York; Sam Weyman, Ernest McCullough, William Morrow, Louis Rucker, Francis Gilbert, Ernest Kozak, John Gilbert, William Paris, Joseph Cooper, Howard Smith, Lowry Newton, John Stewart, James Dunlap, William Wardlaw, Marshall Wellborn and Crispin Carter.

Beautiful Costumes.

Miss Brumby, leading the debutante procession, was a lovely figure wearing a gown of filmy white silk net, heavily beaded in crystal, the straight lines and bodice fashioned in bolero effect being especially becoming to her brunette beauty. A cluster of gardenias adorned her left shoulder.

Miss Anne Spalding wore for the occasion an imported dancing frock of white crepe beaded in crystal design, the entire skirt formed of tiers of graceful, crystal fringe, a shoulder spray of delicately tinted orchids completed her smart costume.

Miss Douglas, striking blond beauty, was emphasized by her gown of white satin, the bodice closely studied in rhinestones and the graceful skirt formed of white silk fringe. A spray of orchids and valley lilies adorned her left shoulder.

Miss Helen Crowell, of Charlotte, N. C., was handsomely gowned in a robe de style of white transparent velvet, the wide bouffant skirt finished with a hem of white marquisette. Her flowers were a shoulder corsage of lavender orchids.

Miss Mary Louise Pearce was becomingly gowned in white transparent velvet, fashioned with a long waistline and a smartly draped skirt, caught with a rhinestone ornament. She wore a cluster of orchids on her left shoulder.

Miss Edna Belle Raine's plumed beauty was enhanced by her straight line French gown of white satin, the skirt fashioned of alternate layers of silver and crystal fringe. A graceful spray of orchids, worn on the shoulder, completed her costume.

Miss Mary Wellborn's lovely dancing frock of white tulle was shimmering around the skirt with silver rhinestones, the skirt

For Men Who Get Up Cross In the Morning

Lots of men are like that. Won't speak a pleasant word—if indeed they'll speak to you at all—until they've had their breakfast. No matter what you say to them, it's the wrong thing.

The way to treat men like that is not with conversation. They are the men who, like most Americans, live on their nerves. They work too hard. They don't get enough sleep. And when they have to get up in the morning, they are not completely rested. So they're cross. What they need is a good hot drink that will refresh them—that will taste delicious and satisfying without seducing their nerves on edge—that will give them a comfortable sense of well-being—that will put them in harmony with themselves, with you, and with the rest of the world—and that will make them fit for the strenuous day before them.

Any one of the three perfect RIDGWAYS blends can do this. Try it! Compare its effects with those of any other drink. You'll notice the difference in one day. You'll be calmer, happier, and easier to live with. And you'll love the delicious, full-bodied flavor.

I Have Said in My Heart

By IDA H. GIBSON
LIBERTY

It may be "lese majesty," but it has long seemed to me that those splendid framers of the Declaration of Independence never expected, when they declared "they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and pursuit of happiness," that so many queer interpretations should be put to these words which perhaps are more quoted than any other in the whole document.

The man who wants to get drunk and beat his wife and abuse his children insists that his liberty—his precious personal liberty—has been infringed upon.

The man who thinks that happiness can only be pursued in the exploitation of selfish aims and libertine actions always points to the words "pursuit of happiness," not only with pride, but with an air of conscious rectitude, as having authority from the source of the great fountain of democracy for his derelictions.

No man or woman on earth is perfectly free, and the more important the personage the more tightly is he bound by certain rules and conventions.

No man is free to steal another man's goods just because he happens to want them.

No woman is free to annex another woman's husband just because she thinks that at last she has found her affinity.

No man or woman may be licensed to do anything that will hurt any other person, even if he is sure it will bring pleasure to himself.

Nancy Astor, when she was over here said: "American women are wonderful, because they are the freest women on earth."

And she further asserted that our women "are free of the necessity of man stalking, for they are worshiped and sought by men. They are free to be happy, and radiantly beautiful."

The truth of the matter is that Nancy is as far off in saying that American women are perfectly free as our forefathers were in declaring that we are all free agents to select our religion, our husbands, our friends or jobs—within certain limitations.

The man we select may be in love with some other girl. The religion of our forefathers may not prove satisfying.

Our boss will dictate what we must do to earn our salary, and our friends may prove unappreciative of our worth.

The more civilization and culture put their stamps upon the human race, the less free we must be, for the first civilizing factor in the ranks of man is the respect for the rights of others when they conflict with our own; and culture means not that terrible thing the Germans thought it, but the refinement of courage and tolerance—the abolishment of selfishness and greed.

Memo: We women are only free as men are free, in that we have a choice of what we shall make of our lives.

DIET AND HEALTH

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M. D., Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children."

SUNSHINE TREATMENT.

One of the most interesting days of the European trip I took last summer with a body of physicians was spent at the Rolloff institute at Leyzin, in the Swiss Alps.

At first sight of the patients you would believe that they were all malnourished, but when you saw them—they were simply browned by the sun.

While the use of the sun in the treatment of various diseases is very old, Dr. Rolloff was the first one to work it out in a scientific manner.

Dr. Rolloff first used a heliotherapy (treatment by the sun) for surgical tuberculosis (this means all tuberculosis except that of the lungs)—bones, joints, lymph glands, etc. Recently pulmonary tuberculosis is being treated by the sun.

There are many diseases besides tuberculosis that are benefited by these rays: Malnutrition, rickets, skin diseases, asthma, rheumatism, cough, and, in fact, all the diseases so far as I know.

There are especially constructed machines which give off these ultra-violet rays, and in cases of disease in the ear and other passages, special tubes which permit the light to be directed into the passage are used. Many cases are miraculously cured when all other methods have failed. (The treatment with these lights must be given by a scientific operation, for they may be dangerous in unskilled hands.)

There is a chemical relationship which takes place between the ultra-violet rays and the hemoglobin or red coloring matter of the blood. It is believed that the radiant energy which the blood receives causes it to convey an increased amount of oxygen to the cells and to take away an increased amount of toxins (poisons) from them. It also helps in forming the defenses or anti-bodies against disease.

The blood under their influence seems to increase its iodine, calcium and phosphorus. Possibly the rays cause a better absorption of them from the intestinal tract. There is also produced a physical increase of blood to the parts which act beneficially for some time after the light is given.

The methods in which the treatments are taken are in general as follows: The patient is exposed for a short time, for not more than two or three minutes. This time is gradually increased to one-half to one hour in the case of the artificial lights, and in case of the sunlight, to a much longer time. The skin becomes very much tanned; this is nature's method of protecting against too great an absorption of the rays.

As they are mostly lost through clothes and glass—except certain glasses which are now being manufactured—to get the most curative effects the rays must be directly on the skin.

Some of the U. S. A. rays remain in the air even after the sun ceases to shine or is obscured. This is one of the reasons for the beneficial effects of much outdoor life.

Tomorrow I'll give you more on the technique of the sunlight treatment generally used for patients.

Mrs. F.—Send for our article on diet during pregnancy and nursing. Ask also for the list of books recommended. Some of the U. S. A. rays remain in the names of several books on post and pre-natal care. (Enclose only a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.)

Features Health Week.

Recognition of the importance of health as a first objective in education was brought forcibly before the Parent-Teacher association of the Capital View school, Tuesday at their second meeting of the year by Miss Manson of the educational department of the Anti-Tuberculosis association. She also told of the importance of preventive measures in attaining and preserving health.

Another feature of the meeting was a talk by Miss Holland of the camp fire organization, she told of the educational and character-building phases of the organization, and of how they "learn by doing." Plans were discussed pertaining to the purchase of a new piano, which is badly needed for a promising school orchestra, musical programs, and general school use. The prize for the largest attendance of mothers was won by low two, Miss Chandler, teacher.

By Roy Vickers.

SYNOPSIS.

On the way to Donald Brierly's house at Huntington for luncheon Connie Elmore, Donald's fiancée, tells her friend, Olive Weston, that Donald stands a chance of inheriting half a million from the estate of old Harrowby, a friend of Donald's father.

Olive and Connie share a flat in London. Olive is secretly in love with Donald but sincerely pleased at Connie's good fortune in winning him.

Sandie and Querk, solicitors handling the Harrowby estate, are crooked and plot to cheat Donald Brierly of the fortune by having a spurious heir appear whose claim is prior to Donald's. In the midst of the plotting Augustus Brierly, Donald's father, presumed to have died on the Titanic, calls on Sandie. Querk suggests to Sandie that he invite Brierly to Harrowby house and there with the assistance of Querk's tool, Wade, dispose of Brierly.

Connie decides to visit her old nurse, who is now caretaker of Harrowby house. Mrs. Jones is out, but Connie finds the key and lets herself in to wait for her. She hears strange noises in the library and, going to investigate, she sees Sandie and another man kill Mr. Brierly, whom she recognizes from his portrait. Rushing out of the house Connie stumbles into Mr. Querk. While telling her story Querk pushes the bell and sends a signal to the murderers. Connie sees a policeman and, calling him, she proceeds to the library and Connie asks Querk to open the secret panel in the wall where she had seen the men place the body. It is empty. Querk accompanies her to the police station, where she tells her story to the police superintendent. Querk laments that she imagined the scene and, in explanation, Connie goes to see Olive, who believes her story.

Querk requests Sandie to come to the superintendent's office and he presents his alibi. When the officer accepts. The two lawyers proceed to Wade's office, where old man Turle and his son, the spurious heir, await him. The old man dies just after they walk into the office.

The next morning Connie calls on Querk and meets young Jones there. She recognizes him as her old nurse's son, but does not know that he has been posing as Henry Turle, Jr. Querk later informs that Connie imagined she saw young Jones. He tells Olive that Sandie is about to bring a criminal suit against Connie unless Olive, as her nearest friend, has her committed to a private institution at Merton which he recommends. While Donald is visiting Connie at Merton house a body is found buried in his garden. Olive, sent out on the case by her newspaper, meets and warns Donald. She arranges a hiding place for him in London. Olive suspects Querk.

INSTALLMENT XXVIII.

A NEST OF ASSASSINS.

"Easily," answered Olive. "And when she has spotted the photo, tell her that all you know about her son is that he is quite well and that she may see him shortly. You won't frighten her, will you?"

"I don't think I have ever frightened any woman," Miss Weston, "although Rason, looking at her oddly, 'although upon at least one occasion I have tried.'"

Olive smiled and left him. "That girl has grit," mused Rason after she had gone. "She knows we could arrest her on suspicion but she doesn't seem to mind."

Before leaving for the foreign office he instructed a junior to find young Turle and bring him to the yard, telling him that further information was required concerning the murder of his father.

The foreign office kept him waiting for a considerable time. When he got back to the yard he had just enough time to have the photograph of young Turle set in a frame containing some fifty photographs of other young men before word was brought him that Mrs. Jones and Miss Weston were in the waiting room.

On a house telephone, Rason spoke to a junior.

"What about young Turle?" he asked.

"He's left, sir. His landlady said he had gone to Paris and was expected back shortly."

Rason cut off.

"He's gone to Paris, has he?" he mused. "Well, there's nothing much in that. He'll have to turn up in England again pretty soon when the civil action comes on for the property claim. Wonder what Miss Weston will make of that?"

He rang down to the waiting room. As the girl came in, ushering Mrs. Jones before her, Rason could not guess that beneath her mask of indifference was a rather terrible anxiety. Olive knew that she had taken a very grave risk with Rason. She had trifled with him once and it would not do to trifle with him a second time. So far the identity of young Turle was a mere inspired guess on Donald's part. In a few minutes—a few seconds, perhaps—she would know the truth.

"Mr. Rason, this is Mrs. Jones," she was saying. "I told Mrs. Jones that you think it possible you have picked up news of her son."

"Can you tell me Mrs. Jones, if your son's photo is amongst these?" Rason asked.

He tilted the frame on his desk so that the light should fall more fully on the photographs.

Mrs. Jones, adjusting her spectacles, began to look at each photograph in turn. With a cry of excitement, her finger stopped at the photograph of her son, whose features were already familiar to Rason as those of Turle junior, the supposed son of the murdered man.

"That's him, sir, that's him!" she cried excitedly. "He's changed a lot."

The Exclusive, New, Patented Doll
"Flossie Flirt"

To say that "Flossie Flirt" opens and closes her eyes, that she winks and rolls her eyes gaily—is not enough; her exquisite features and charming costume are most realistic; the amazing beauty of "Flossie Flirt" must be seen to be appreciated. She can be seen at the office of The Atlanta Constitution, Alabama and Forsyth streets, any day.

A Suggestion to Mother, Father, Aunts and Uncles

This is your opportunity to get a beautiful life-size baby doll, 19 inches tall, for Christmas for the little daughter or niece. The doll can be had immediately after orders have been verified and accepted.

DO NOT TAKE WEAKENS WHEAT

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chicago, October 31.—(P)—Confronted by announcement of 3,288,000 bushels increase of the United States visible supply, wheat values weakened at the last today under general profit-taking sales. Earlier the market had scored a sharp advance because of further reports of frost in Argentina.

Closing quotations on wheat were nervous, 3-8 to 5-8 net lower, corn 7-8 to 1-8 off, oats 1-8 1/2 to 1-8 1/2 down to 1-8 1/2 up, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 30c.

Discounting bullish effects of fresh reports today from Buenos Aires that there had been light scattered frosts in Argentina were late advices that no actual damage to wheat had been done except in the pampean region where the successive frosts had harmed wheat already weakened by drought. It was noted, however, that the crop being late, the weather was regarded as favorable.

In connection with the bullish showing of domestic wheat visible supply figures today, it was pointed out that the total is now 82,800,000 bushels, against 72,034,000 bushels a year ago.

On the other hand, unusual sensitiveness to southern reports today appeared to be partly due to word that the premier of New South Wales, Australia, anticipates a yield of only 14,000,000 bushels in his territory compared with 37,000,000 bushels a year ago.

Corn prices eased heavy most of the day, but cost showed at some points was regarded as beneficial, and the corn visible supply increased 1,067,000 bushels. Eastern shipping demand was slow. Oats reacted with provisions were easier on account of scattered selling which more than offset an advance in the value of hogs.
